

What's Developing

Knowing that financial training is a subject of interest to many people, the Eureka Community Development Company applied for a training grant so that the Dave Ramsey Financial Training course could be offered locally.

Specifics about the course are that it will be held every Sunday afternoon at 3:00 PM for nine weeks at the Information Center. Each class will last approximately 90 minutes. Participants need to order the course materials in advance and there is a charge for those. There is no cost for attending the classes. To order the materials or to learn more about the course go to the website at www.daveramsey.com. Pastor Ryan Gage will be the facilitator for the course and will gladly answer questions about the classes (284-2700 or 284-2161) since he has already completed the course.

This training course is open to all who want to participate.

Dave Ramsey is a well-known financial advisor who spreads a message of debt-free living. He offers callers and readers life-changing advice through daily radio broadcasts, TV, newspapers and books.
