

What's Developing

This seems to be a very busy time of year. In fact, too busy for people to attend Dave Ramsey financial classes. People have expressed an interest in attending the 9-week course, but have too many conflicts with their schedules during this season.

So, to accommodate those who want to learn about living debt-free, the starting date for the course will be January 14, 2014. The classes will be held on Sunday afternoons at 3:00 PM, and will be open to all who wish to attend.

Details about the course will be publicized in the weeks preceeding the start date.

Wanda Jundt