

What's Developing

The Eureka Community Development Company does the daily postings on the (eureka south dakota) Facebook page. This is one of the ways used to reach out to people all over the world to let them know about Eureka.

If your business or organization has anything happening that you want everyone to know about, get that information to the Eureka Development office. Pictures often tell the story, so be sure to include those, too.

There is no charge for service, and it could very well steer new customers your way.
