

What's Developing...

When your business has a job opening, the Eureka Community Development Company offers a free service to help get the word out that you are looking for one or more employees. Through the use of Facebook, radio, and a website the message is spread in different forms of media, therefore it reaches a wide variety of people.

Get your job openings to ecdc@valleytel.net, call 284-2130, or drop the information off at the Information Center.

What better way to promote Eureka than to let the world know that there are jobs available here.
