

What's Developing...

If your business has brochures or business cards, there are places for both at the Information Center. There is no cost for having them on display.

Tourists, hunters, travelers, and even local citizens stop at the Information Center for (believe it or not)... information. They often ask about local businesses – such as location, hours of operation and specific products. It's not uncommon for them to ask, "Is there a brochure?"

Brochures and business cards can be an inexpensive way of advertising your business. Having them in an area frequented by those who want to buy your products or services may give your business a few extra customers.

All you have to do is drop off your printed materials any time throughout the year and they will be put in the display areas.

Wanda Jundt