

What's Developing

When you are proud of your town and events happening there, you probably want to share it. There is now a way to do that and get it out to the whole world via the Eureka Ambassadors Facebook page.

This is a posting directly from their Facebook page: "Happy In Eureka We want to know what makes the people of Eureka appreciate this town, and why it makes them happy. For every "Happy In Eureka" post (picture with a description or written update) that Eureka Ambassadors receives or is tagged in, your name will be entered into a drawing! You will have until August 1st to post and we will announce the winner August 4th. The catch? You will not know what the prize is, you will find out the day we announce the winner and what they've won! Ready.. Set.. Post!"

So, there is your personal invitation to let others know about all the good things that are happening and what makes us appreciate all that we have here.
