

What's Developing

One of the objectives of the Eureka Community Development Company is to help local businesses. This is done in a variety of ways.

When a business is for sale Eureka Development assists by listing the business, a picture, the selling price, and pertinent information on the Eureka website. This is also posted on the regional website known as Prairie Gateway, and featured on the Eureka Facebook page. It is up to the business to list it with a real estate company.

If a business needs a loan Eureka Development provides contact information and the name of the loan officer for the Eureka area for several lending institutions (such as NECOG, NESDEC, REED, Dakota Resources, and banks). Eureka Development also has a Revolving Loan Fund and there is a small amount that is currently not loaned.

There are also many other areas of expertise needed by businesses. That help is sometimes free and sometimes low cost. Marketing, Quick Books, and business planning are some of the most often requested. The Small Business Development Center and SCORE usually are able to provide the expertise needed.

If you own a business, want to sell your business, or are contemplating starting a business contact the Eureka Community Development Company office for the assistance you need.
