

What's Developing

Eureka is so fortunate to have V.J. Smith coming to town as a speaker on December 1 at 7:00 PM at the Senior Center.

Customer Service is the main point of his presentation, and those who have heard him speak know that it will also be very entertaining. The 75-minute presentation is entitled "The Magic of the Extra Step".

Anyone who deals with the public is cordially invited to attend. Unless a person is some kind of hermit, there is probably some connection with the public – whether it is at work or just in casual everyday life. Businesses are asked to have employees attend.

V.J. Smith grew up in Eureka and graduated from EHS. He is a professional speaker and a published author. The Richest Man in Town was a best seller. He owns property in the area and returns his hometown regularly. He was the opening speaker for Eureka's Quasquicentennial celebration.

There is no cost to attend.

There will be refreshments and a time for visiting following the presentation. The Eureka Community Development Company will serve hot apple cider and Northern Plains will provide cookies.
