

What's Developing

The highlights of the past 30 years of Eureka Community Development Company continue.

In 1989 ECDC continued to work with businesses that were receiving help since the organization was formed – Schaeffer's Manufacturing, Bertsch Designs, and Day Break. Day Break moved from the category of a cottage industry to an industrial basis, doing both home furnishings and contract work and projects included igniter bags, cold weather liner gloves, and drapes/blinds. Ole's Landing, Southshore, and Comco (sewing company that did not locate locally) were new or potential businesses that were given attention during the year of 1989.

A Eureka Booth was manned at the Centennial Homecoming in Sioux Falls by Dick and Erva Neuharth. A Business and Industry Day was held in Eureka with tours of eight business establishments.

This was the year that a promotional video for Eureka was produced.

New board members were Dr. James Anderson, Richard Larson, and Kathryn Ackerman.

Current News: Courtney Burdess is the new owner of the Lakeview Motel. She and her family are in the process of settling in at their home in Eureka and offering motel services to the area. Congratulations to the newcomers to Eureka as they enter into the Eureka business community.
