

What's Developing

Looking ahead to January 2017, the Eureka Community Development Company will be sponsoring two distinctly different kinds of training and seminars.

For the fourth year, Pastor Ryan Gage will be facilitating Dave Ramsey Financial Peace University. This is a 9-week course that will be held on Sunday afternoons at the Information Center. ECDC has purchased 12 memberships and will pass the cost savings on to class members. Further details will be made available as to times and dates of the classes. Registration for the class and picking up the class materials can be done at any time at the ECDC office.

Seminars will be taught by attorney, Austin Hoffman. The first one will be Succession Planning. It will be in January at the Information Center, and there will be no charge to attend. Additional seminars taught by Austin Hoffman will also be offered and sponsored by ECDC.
